E ai ō harirau?

What wings do you have to fly here?

Half way through Term 1 and our tamariki are well into their learning programmes. The above whakatauki reminds us that each child has various ways in which they learn and when we find their 'rhythm of being', our children soar. The idea of rhythm includes the place where the child feels safe, feels happy and is engaged in their learning. In order to find this rhythm, our children often need specific tools and an environment that is conducive to helping them achieve a balance in their world. For children who get taken out of their balance, there is a strong sense of discomfort or distress and this can manifest itself in a range of behaviours. At Levin North we work hard to create a place where rhythm can be restored and a child finds what they need to be stabilised, balanced and regulated.

Sometimes all it takes to get our rhythm back is a BIG game of chess or a run...

If you think about all the things you do at home to 'regulate' your child, we also have a range of strategies for when things get out of balance. Whilst we don't send them to bed early....we do find calm places that allow their rhythm to be restored.

Sports

Netball registrations go live today. If children are keen to learn and play, keep an eye on Facebook and HERO.

School swimming sports coming soon.

Reminders

Please remember to remind your child about swimming togs and towels as we eke out the last days of summer / early autumn. It is still reasonably warm in our pool and the children are loving it.

Don't forget we serve free lunches each day of the week and if you have special dietary requirements for your child, don't hesitate to contact the school.

LUNCH IS ON IT'S WAY!

BUT WAIT THERE'S MORE!

It's that time of the year - well soon - when we start preparing for this magnificent event - SHOWQUEST 2024 - and we are really on the lookout for people who can help with choreography and costume design. Please get in touch with Emma Hansen (our organiser) if you think you can help.
